

What is Romanticism?

It's losing her number & chalking building walls to search.

It's a flower on the first date.

It's relying on a handwritten letter.

It's a song to her, no matter how out of tune.

It's making a butterfly out of pipe cleaners and tissue paper, because she said she was cocooning.

It's post it notes in the shape of a heart on her door.

It's spontaneous sympathetic tears.

It's arguing over the criteria of a perfect kiss.

It's waiting through Lent for that kiss, because that's the wrong liturgical season.

It's that kiss under a shower of feathers.

It's screaming out your love in a plaza ten years later.

It's citing a school note of love on worldwide TV.

It's walking hand in hand in the park after forty years.

Romanticism is idealism, elegance, passion,
the words and acts expressing beauty and love.

The Society for Romanticism restores joy to a world that has shifted to the mundane. Beauty has no political party nor dogma.

To support the Society, follow the principles! Call someone beautiful. Watch sunrise on the lake. Dance. Sing. It's not expensive or difficult. And you can use daisies, too.
